

TWO WAYS OUT.

The Problem Confronting the Buffalo Switchmen.

Defeat Must Be Confessed or the Strike Extended.

LITTLE ROCK HELD OUT BY THE RAILWAY BROTHERHOODS.

Locomotive Engineers Will Not Join in the Fight—The Conference of Leaders Not Yet Held—Night Attacks on Non-Union Men Continue—Recruiting at Scranton—On the Central—The Strike Outlook.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Chief Arthur of the engineers has, it is believed, indicated to Mr. Sweeney of the switchmen's order that it will be "impossible" for him to be present here at the proposed conference. This is construed to mean that the Engineers' order will have nothing to do with the switchmen's difficulties, and that the Engineers' order will not co-operate in a sympathetic strike.

Reasoning from this some conclusions may be reached. Mr. Sargent will not take out his men to aid Mr. Sweeney's men, unless all organized railway men also go out. Mr. Arthur's men will not come out, therefore Mr. Sargent's men will not come out; and these facts leave the conductors, the trainmen and the railway telegraphers as the field in which Mr. Sweeney must search for aid in his difficulties. The conductors and telegraphers, it is believed, have little in common with the switchmen, and the trainmen are more closely associated with other orders than with the switchmen.

Mr. Sargent announced yesterday that he would leave the city this afternoon, going to his home. Hence Mr. Sweeney must consummate his conference before he departs, or without the presence of Mr. Sargent unless, indeed, Mr. Sargent should return, which is not deemed probable.

The impossibility of Mr. Arthur's attendance, and his refusal to participate has taken the edge off public interest in the conference, and it is now believed that with Mr. Sargent departing to-day, no positive results to Mr. Sweeney's advantage will follow from the Council he has called. Mr. Sweeney himself recognizes the situation as quickly as any other person, and public rumor has it that he will advise the switchmen to accept the offer, either declare officially that his followers have been defeated by the companies who employed them, or to call out all the other switchmen on the lines that were affected by the recent strike of switchmen in this city.

At the meantime there are only three roads affected—the Western New York (whose switchmen went out Monday), and on the Lackawanna and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, whose switchmen quit yesterday afternoon. Already the Western New York & Pennsylvania road has partially reopened its service, and it is now believed that the Lackawanna claims to have new switchmen close at hand and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh are to-day putting on new men.

On the other roads, where a few days ago there was a strike, and no trouble, other switchmen are conducting the work which the idle men refused to do. Traffic is moving about as it did a month ago.

Whether Mr. Sweeney will accept the advice of the conference, if given, and give up the present struggle without first exhausting all the resources at his command is problematical. The news from Rochester this morning would seem to indicate that he will not, but intends, as was indicated in these dispatches on Saturday, to nag the roads by strike after strike all along the systems and to endeavor to bring them into agreeing to some sort of compromise.

NIGHT ATTACKS.
The strikers and their sympathizers continue their night attacks upon the troops and non-union men. The Buffalo and Southwestern division of the Erie tried to send out an unguarded freight train on its road last night. There were three non-union men on top of the cars. As the train slackened up near Seneca street a lot of strikers boarded it and threw the three non-union men overboard. The cars and the train were then assaulted with coupling pins. Charles R. Henzest was severely cut and was taken into the Erie road house, where a surgeon dressed his wounds. Allen Richardson, who had been taken to the hospital, Henzest says his assailants tried to throw one of the men off the train. After the assault the men fled before an alarm could be given and escaped. There was the usual annoyance to the troops last night, before whom the men fled beyond the affair at Tiff's farm, nothing of a serious nature is reported.

Another attempt was made to wreck a train in the yard near the station. Other troops on duty last night, an east-bound New York Central freight was making up and getting ready to leave. While backing in on a spur at the yard near the Lockport road a switch was turned between the trucks of a car and the result was that a car of the train was derailed and thrown on its side. The train was stopped and the derailed car cut out. The switch house, where the switch tender stood with his lantern, was only four rods distant, but the marauders made good their escape.

Capt. Kirby in command of troops in the Central yards hopes that he may start home to Auburn with his second separate company this afternoon. Central traffic is going forward without guard and the road now practically drops out of consideration as to the effect of the recent strike upon its business.

The same may be said to be true of the Lake Shore and Erie and the other lines originally involved in the switchmen's campaign.

At Scranton, Pa., Aug. 24.—A car loaded with steel ingots, consigned to the Carnegie firm at the thirty-third street works, was being hauled with dynamite or some other explosive on a side track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad at Thirty-fourth street last night. This is the first attempt to destroy the Carnegie firm's property at the thirty-third street works, and great excitement both inside and outside of the company's works. The body of the car was shattered and the contents scattered in all directions. So far as can be ascertained no one was injured. A reserve force of police was summoned and quickly surrounded the place, but no one was captured and no clue to the perpetrator was found.

COAL CREEK CAMP.

Rumors of Signal Lights Seen on the Mountain Tops.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF SPEEDY PUNISHMENT OF THE RIOTERS.

The State Has No Power to Place the Disturbed District Under Martial Law—A Change of Prisoners—True Story of the Siege of Fort Anderson—Military Supplies.

COAL CREEK, Tenn., Aug. 24.—The search of the mountain sides for outlawed miners continues under direction of Gen. Carnes. But few arrests have been made in the past two days. The truth is there are no more men to be found in the country round about who had any connection with the insurrection. They have either fled across the border into Kentucky or Virginia, or they have effectively concealed themselves in the laurel thickets of the mountains, and only emerge when night comes and gives them cover from their enemies.

Since the man hunt began the camp at Coal Creek has been filled with rumors of signal lights seen at night flashing on the mountain tops, of horns sounding at night, of the howling like the call of owls, answered back across the valleys. These are tales of scots and pickets. These reports furnish the militia with material from which to write thrilling letters to the "girls they left behind them."

Supplementing these camp rumors a mountain came in last night and at headquarters made the statement that he and a companion had discovered a hospital in the mountains a few miles from Coal Creek, which the miners had converted into a cave. He says he saw twenty-one dead there and a large number of wounded.

Little credence was given the story, but its truth will be determined by a scouting party to-day. Some of the officers believe that the tale may be a ruse to draw a small force of soldiers into an ambush. Since the siege has been raised there has been little shooting, in fact none at all at close range. The miners have shown no disposition to mass themselves and meet the soldiers, and there has been nobody killed in the desultory long-range warfare that has been kept up between the outposts and the main body.

Here is an incident which illustrates the character of the men who are in rebellion. A miner who has been several miles from the camp one spot on a mountain side, several yards distant, and was so well covered that he could not be seen, exchanged three shots with the soldiers. The bullet from the soldier's rifle struck the miner, and the miner, in turn, fired his rifle. The soldier, who was a private, was killed. The miner, who was a private, was killed. The soldier, who was a private, was killed. The miner, who was a private, was killed.

The imprisoned mountaineers have been removed to the Coal Creek school house. There are about 150 men in the school house, and they are being kept in the school house. The school house is being used as a prison. The school house is being used as a prison. The school house is being used as a prison.

RECRUITING AT SCRANTON.
SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 24.—Two carloads of section men and a trainman numbering 120 were sent to Buffalo from the Erie road last night. The train was loaded with section men and a trainman. The train was loaded with section men and a trainman.

FUNDS FOR HOMESTEAD.
NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Hugh O'Donnell has been making a tour of New York and New England to collect funds for the relief of the locked-out men at Homestead. He came here last Thursday with Burgess McLuckie and is staying on Staten Island. He said to a reporter that there was no mystery in his leaving Homestead. He went away because he was sick and needed medical attention. He wishes to present to the workmen of other cities the case of the locked-out men.

PLAGUE SPOTS.

Asiatic Cholera Spreading Over the City of Hamburg.

Three Hundred and Forty New Cases Reported To-Day.

EUROPEAN CITIES ALARMED AT THE PEST'S PROGRESS.

The Intense Heat Adds to the Seriousness of the Situation—A Slight Decrease of the Death Rate in Russia—Countless Corpses Laid in the Streets of the Persian Capital—A Day's Events Abroad.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—That cholera in its worst form has invaded Europe is a fact no longer doubted. The Asiatic plague in its most violent phase has appeared in Hamburg and is doing 80 persons were attacked, 130 cases proving fatal. Several of the most infected streets have been closed by the police. Prof. Koch declares that he has found several cases of true Asiatic cholera. Twenty-nine cases were reported in Altona.

The pest is not confined to any one quarter of the city, but like plague spots it is seen everywhere, although the outbreak is worst in the harbor quarter, where it first made its appearance.

From St. Petersburg the dispatches taken from the official returns show that yesterday these were reported throughout Russia 5,500 new cases of cholera and 2,600 deaths from the disease. This is a decrease of 1,301 new cases and 770 deaths compared with the official figures of Monday.

In Persia the scourge rages with unchecked violence throughout Persia, and countless corpses are everywhere unburied in Teheran. At Lyons for the past three days a colony of Russian Jews from Odessa has been stranded because of the refusal of the steamship lines to take them to New York for the reason that quarantine regulations were insisted upon to prevent the introduction of cholera. The emigrants were forced to remain until something could be done for them. Consequently they established a camp near the railway station, which has been visited by thousands of curious people, who walked with much interest through the camp.

Arrangements have now been completed for the shipment of these emigrants and the camp is already beginning to break up. The emigrants will be taken to Havre where they will be immediately embarked for New York. They will leave here Friday and will most likely sail from Havre on Saturday. They will undoubtedly be prevented from landing when they reach the United States.

Telegrams from Antwerp to-day say cholera has appeared in Antwerp. The world is now menaced by the plague. It is only necessary to state that the pest now has a good foothold at Hamburg, Antwerp and Havre, the great Northern European ports.

IRISH HOME RULE.

THE DUTY IRISH IN AMERICA OWE TO THE CAUSE.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 23.—The Rev. Dr. J. T. Conaty of this city received a letter to-day from Senator George F. Hoar, who is now traveling in Europe for his health, dealing with the home rule question in Ireland and the duty of the Irish-Americans in aiding the Irish representatives in Parliament.

In the letter, which is dated at Paris, July 26, Senator Hoar says: "I think the American friends of home rule for Ireland are in a condition to exercise a great influence upon the progress of that cause and to avoid what seems to me a very great danger."

"Gladstone, with his majority of forty-two, has to encounter a hostile House of Lords, a hostile press, a hostile sentiment of the upper classes and the universities, and it is rumored, a hostile Queen. The opposition is not only vigorous, compact and led with great adroitness and skill. If Gladstone were to be disabled or to die it is hard to see where a leader could be found under whom the somewhat heterogeneous elements who now march under the banner of home rule could be united in any steady policy."

"If the Irish friends of home rule make unwise demands, or even if they go for the full extent of what are clearly reasonable and just demands, and Mr. Gladstone should in that way lose his majority or fail to accomplish his purpose, the cause of home rule must be postponed to a very distant day indeed."

"It seems to me, therefore, that America ought to utter her voice, which has been so influential in the cause of home rule, counseling the Irish representatives to be content for the time being with taking one firm, forward step, even if they shall not for the time being gain everything which they desire, such a step, once taken, will never be retraced."

SIEGE OF CARACAS.

THE REVOLUTIONARY VENEZUELAN LEADER HAS INVESTED THE CAPITAL.

CARACAS, Aug. 24.—The people here are expecting Crespo to attack the city almost any day now. His outposts are in front of Los Teques.

Unless Monagas heeds the appeal of Villagas for reinforcements from Barcelona, Caracas must soon fall.

Congressman Bantista, son of Crespo's well-known General, is now imprisoned at Los Teques. He was about to take a steamer for New York when he was arrested. Villagas requested that he be detained on a charge that he was on his way to the United States for the purpose of buying arms for the revolutionists.

FIRE AT CALLEJO.
CALLEJO, Peru, Aug. 24.—Another fire broke out yesterday in the Hotel Italia, which is opposite the American Consulate. It was fully forty-five minutes before the firemen could get water on the flames, which in the meantime had gained great headway in the old wooden structure and spread to other buildings.

GREAT LIGHTS FAIL.

Two Notable Obscurements of Once Bright Political Stars.

ELKINS AND FOSTER ARE DISAPPOINTMENTS TO HARRISON.

They Were Called Into the Cabinet Because of Their Strength as Party Leaders—The Work Mapped Out for Each and How They Have Failed to Carry Out Their Contracts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—Politicians at the Capital are now discussing what seems to be the complete turn-down of the hitherto notable in the President's political Cabinet. Mr. Foster, neither one of these gentlemen has figured in any of the party consultations of late, and there really seems to be no important work cut out for them to do. Nor does their society appear to be as essential to the President's comfort now as at one time. The day when they were always near him, advising him and taking special commissions from him has evidently gone by, and they have dropped back into the rut of local managers. Mr. Foster struggling to keep his own head up in Ohio and Mr. Elkins doing what he can to control the machine in West Virginia.

As the story goes here, the President has been bitterly disappointed in both men. They were called into the Cabinet purely and entirely because of their reputation as managing politicians and their supposed ability to placate certain interests at that time antagonistic to the second term project.

Mr. Foster was to bring Ohio into line by making peace between the Administration and the Blaine contingent, led by Ex-Gov. Foraker. Neither Sherman nor McKinley could be utilized for this work. Both were too much for the President, but, unfortunately for him, both were out with Foraker. But Foster, who through the Republican contention in Ohio had remained in touch with Foraker, was supposed to position the necessary influence, and to his hands was committed the task of making peace. He went to Ohio several times to see Foraker and he invited Foraker several times to be his guest. It was all to no purpose, however. Foraker refused to come to Washington, camp, and worked so industriously on the outside that at Minneapolis all but one of the Ohio delegates appeared on all the roll-calls for the nomination in opposition to the President.

Mr. Foster was so deeply mortified that he shouted the top of his voice in the President's presence at a New York reception that the news was received: "I am ashamed of Ohio."

But, however, sincere as it was, did not mend matters at all and Mr. Foster from that day seemed to fall behind. He is now at home on a little stumping tour, but his exiles are attracting no attention. He went to work here and in New York is proceeding without any suggestions from him.

The service expected of Mr. Elkins was not only of more importance than that of Foster was to perform, but it was of the highest importance. He was to deal directly with Mr. Blaine himself and make it sure that the President was not deceived by the Blaine faction. He was to be the President's eyes and ears in the Blaine camp, and he was to be the President's voice in the Blaine camp. He was to be the President's eyes and ears in the Blaine camp, and he was to be the President's voice in the Blaine camp.

Up to the last moment Mr. Elkins expressed the opinion in the most confident way that Mr. Blaine would not enter the race. He was to be the President's eyes and ears in the Blaine camp, and he was to be the President's voice in the Blaine camp. He was to be the President's eyes and ears in the Blaine camp, and he was to be the President's voice in the Blaine camp.

Mr. Blaine's resignation came like a bolt from the blue sky, and not only stunned the President, but it stunned the whole country. He has not to this day recovered from the shock. Like his colleague, Mr. Foster, he had been a great success in the Blaine camp, and he had been a great success in the Blaine camp. He had been a great success in the Blaine camp, and he had been a great success in the Blaine camp.

THE FORT ANDERSON FIGHT.
AN AUTHENTIC ACCOUNT OF THE ASSAULT AND ITS REPEL.
COAL CREEK, Aug. 24.—Every correspondent who has visited this now historic valley has sent out his description of the battle at Fort Anderson last Thursday afternoon. The accounts were grossly exaggerated and others understated. The truth is that the battle was a very close one, and the result was a draw. The battle was a very close one, and the result was a draw. The battle was a very close one, and the result was a draw.

THE BENCH AND BAR

Annual Meeting of the National Association at Saratoga.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT, JUDGE DILLON OF NEW YORK.

Reviewing the Work of the Fifty-second Congress and State Legislatures, Labor and Pinkertonism—Trade and Commerce—The Day's Proceedings of the Convention.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The American Bar Association met this morning and was called to order by President John F. Dillon. There was a full attendance of members of the legal fraternity from almost every State in the Union. President Dillon, after the preliminaries of organization were gone through, delivered his annual address. The annual address was delivered by President Dillon, ex-Judge of the Supreme Court of New York. The general character of his address each year is determined by the provisions of the constitution which requires the President to communicate the most noteworthy changes in statute law on points of general interest made in the several States and by Congress during the preceding year. The address dealt with the legislation of Congress at its last session and with the legislation of sixteen States. He reviewed the work of the fifty-second Congress and State Legislatures, Labor and Pinkertonism—Trade and Commerce—The Day's Proceedings of the Convention.

After referring to the more important acts passed by Congress and State Legislatures, the general view of current legislation in the sixteen States and Territories mentioned. Proposals for constitutional amendments in Georgia, Rhode Island, New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Maryland were referred to. The status of the amendments in the preceding year was classified or grouped under the following heads: Elective Franchise, under which it was stated that thirty-five States are using the Australian ballot, and some modification of it. Educational legislation is still showing increased liberality and improvement.

Under the head of Public Health and Safety various statutes were referred to and particularly those relating to the health and safety of operatives and laborers. Under the head of morals reference was made to various statutes on this subject, including the famous contest in Louisiana, in which she suppressed the well-known Lottery of the State.

Under the head of Labor, reference was made to the fact that the Massachusetts Legislature has passed a law which regulates the hours of labor and defines the number of hours constituting a day's work. The act of the Massachusetts Legislature against "Pinkertonism" and forbidding the employment of non-residents other than regular employees to assist with arms in the State was also mentioned. The President observed that while he approved such legislation he felt constrained to say that the Commonwealth, having thus disabled the person whose property is in danger from self-protection, the duty of the State is to provide for its protection by the lawful authorities ought to be earnestly and promptly discharged. Under the head of Minor, various acts to protect children were referred to, such as those of Rhode Island and Colorado, which prohibit the sale of cigarettes to children; and the act of New York prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to children.

legal institutions as they exist; that if there is any problem yet unsolved in this country, it is whether the bench is able to bear the burden of supporting under all circumstances the fundamental law against popular or supposed popular demands for enactments in violation of it. In the exercise of this judicial function and most sacred duty of the judiciary it is the duty of the bar to support the constitution and the judges with vigor and firmness. This done, all is safe; this omitted, and all is imperiled and may be lost.

A feature of the session will be the discussion of the report of the Committee on International Law. This committee will submit an exhaustive review of the question whether "any legislation by Congress is desirable and practicable to give the courts of the United States jurisdiction over criminal proceedings for acts of violence to the persons or property of aliens committed by citizens of the United States."

At last year's session of the association the committee were instructed to make a recommendation on the subject at the present session.

CARDINAL RUGIERO.

The Prefect Said to Have Been Dismissed by the Pope.

ROME, Aug. 24.—The Eternal City is in a high state of excitement over a Vatican sensation of large dimensions. Yesterday afternoon it leaked out that Cardinal Ruggiero, Prefect of the financial affairs of the Propaganda, had been dismissed. The affair was all the more sensational because of the fact that the Cardinal has been regarded for some time as the member of the college who would succeed the present Pontiff. It is said the Pope himself ordered the dismissal, being satisfied after an extended investigation that Cardinal Ruggiero was implicated with Mgr. Fochi who was dismissed last year for mismanagement of Vatican funds. Fochi was Vice Chamberlain to the Pope and as such had charge of the funds. It was then claimed that in order to save the Banco di Roma, in which the Vatican has 12,000 shares, Fochi concluded to establish a syndicate of Catholic banks in London, Rome, Berlin and New York. He did succeed in saving the bank.

FOUR MURDERED.

A Party of Hunters Killed by Robbers in Indian Territory.

THE DEAD BODIES FOUND ON THE BANK OF CANEY CREEK.

Their Names Not Known—A Georgia Lynching—Wife Murder and Suicide—Robbed by the Daltons—Looking for an Arkansas Assassin—Bold Burglars—Crime Record.

DENISON, TEX., Aug. 24.—Conductor Reams of the M. & K. T. brought news to this city that a hunting party composed of four young men, had been found murdered on the banks of Caney Creek in the Indian Territory. The men were dressed in the usual garb of hunters and three of them had no papers on their persons to indicate who they were. Papers found on one of the men indicated that his name was Christie and that he traveled for a thread manufactory in Connecticut. The murder had been recently committed, but there was no clew to the men who committed it.

It was evident that the purpose was robbery, as there was no money or valuables of any kind found on the bodies. No hunting parties answering to the description given of the dead men left this city. It is supposed that they came from the East and went direct to the Territory. Their guns were gone, but a part of their hunting outfit was found near the spot where the bodies were discovered.

ROBBED BY THE DALTON GANG.

VAN BUREN, ARK., Aug. 24.—James F. Wilson, agent of the Kansas & Arkansas Valley Railway at Howata, I. T., a station 140 miles west of here, was held up and robbed at a late hour Monday night by three men supposed to be members of the Dalton gang of train robbers and desperadoes. Traveling Auditor Wright and Traveling Passenger Agent Johnson were engaged in checking up Wilson's books, when the three men appeared and covered them with revolvers, at the same time demanding that they throw up their hands. Wilson was then seized and the three men emptied the contents of the safe into the sack, about $1,000 being secured, one-third of which was the personal property of Wilson and the balance belonging to the railroad and express companies. After relieving Wilson and Wright of their money, the three men, the highwaymen backed out of the depot and disappeared in the darkness. A posse is in pursuit, but nothing has been heard of the posse overtake them a desperate battle will ensue, as both sides are armed to the teeth.

LOOKING FOR AN ASSASSIN.

TEXARKANA, ARK., Aug. 24.—The particulars of a dastardly murder, which was perpetrated Saturday night at Cameron, a small village on the Cotton Belt railway, about 100 miles north of here, have just reached here. Bad blood has existed for the past three years between Frazier and Mr. Long and they have had several encounters. On Saturday night Frazier had another dispute, during which Frazier made threats of violence upon Long. The latest was a quarrel over a usual hour retired with his wife and children for the night, he, with the oldest child, occupied one bed, and would bring and two younger children taking another bed in the above room. At 11 o'clock Frazier rang out. All the children were in the bedroom. One struck Mrs. Long and went through her body, the death being instantaneous. At the inquest held Sunday enough testimony was brought out to cause warrants to be issued for Frazier and his wife, Coleman as an accomplice. The latter was arrested and says that Frazier did the shooting. Frazier has fled and it is not thought he can escape the officers who are looking for him.

CRIMINAL CASES IN OZARK.

OZARK, MO., Aug. 24.—Judge Hubbard commenced court here Monday. There was not much done Monday, as the Republican Convention met at 2 p. m. to put out their ticket. The last and most difficult piece of work in the mounting of the big globe at Broadway and Olive street has been successfully accomplished and all the intricate and delicate work of the last few days has been thoroughly tested. No adequate description of the mounting of these unique devices will be had until they are seen as intended in a full blaze of light.
